FREDDY FINISHES FIRST AGAIN

THAT YABBA DABBA DOOOO KID HIMSELF, FREDDIE FLINTSTONE, SET A NEW SPEED RECORD LAST THURSDAY! FREDDY FINISHED IN ONE MINUTE AND FORTY SECONDS, BREAKING HIS OLD RECORD OF TWO MINUTES!

FREDDY'S MOM SAID, "I COULDN'T BELIEVE MY EYES! I'VE NEVER SEEN ANYONE GO SO FAST" WHILE FREDDY'S PET, DINO, SAID, "HMPH!"

THIS WAS PROBABLY THE LAST TIME THAT FREDDY WILL TRY FOR THE SPEED RECORD, SINCE FREDDY'S DAD WAS HEARD TO SAY... "FROM NOW ON, FREDDY'S GOING TO STAY AT THE DINNER TABLE WHETHER HE FINISHES FIRST OR NOT!" BESIDES, EATING SO FAST GAVE

GREAT WORK,
PHILO! YOU'RE A GENIUS!

EVERY RESCUE SQUAD
SHOULD HAVE A SNOWMOBILE!

A color comic strip panel from 'The Flintstones'. The scene is set in a snowy environment. In the center, a wooden boat is mounted on a sled, with a stick figure wearing a leopard-print hat and coat inside. To the left, a character with a black afro and blue goggles, wearing a yellow and black patterned coat, is pushing the sled. To the right, a character with a red afro and a yellow and black patterned coat, wearing a blue scarf, stands nearby. In the background, two other characters, a man and a woman, are standing in the snow. A speech bubble from the character on the right says, 'EVERY RESCUE SQUAD SHOULD HAVE A SNOWMOBILE!'. The artist's name, 'DECESARE/KREMER/ROETTCHER', is at the bottom.

I PAINTED THE NAME OF

Dear FLINTSTONE KIDS,

I really like the FLINTSTONE KIDS! I'm starting to collect the comics. Is there ever going to be a FLINTSTONE KIDS club? Could you please send me an autographed picture of Barney, Fred, Dino, Wilma, Betty, and Phineas?

I like to draw myself. I draw lots of cartoons out of comics.

Thanks for your time!

Cory Sutton
Kinistino, Sask.
Canada

Nice to hear from you, Cory. We'll always have time for you!

At the moment, we don't know of any clubs... but we'd be mighty surprised if some of our readers haven't already taken care of the problem. (Anybody care to write and tell us about his or her club? We'd love to pass along the info!)

We were glad, also, to hear you enjoyed drawing our favorite Kids. Do you show your drawings to friends and relatives? We hope so-'cause there's nothing like passing along the good word, don't you agree?

Dear FLINTSTONE KIDS,

I love your comic! I think Freddy is sooo cute! No wonder Wilma likes him.

For my birthday, my parents said I could have a subscription to one more comic book, besides FLINTSTONE KIDS. I'm glad you put subscription information in the back of all your comics, but how do I know which one to choose? What do you suggest? I really, really love FLINTSTONE KIDS, so that tells you the kind of stuff I like.

By the way, I really liked the last issue, the one where the kids meet Frankenstone, in issue #10.

Robin Brady
Sarasota, FL

Glad to hear from such a devoted fan, Robin! (And a lucky one, too, to have such nice parents!)

You've got a sticky problem ahead of you, though we'll bet lots of kids would love to be stuck in it with you! We recommend you try COUNT DUCKULA, the saga of a nutty vampire duck! But, then, we also recommend MUPPET BABIES. Of course, HEATHCLIFF is a good bet, too. And for really good, funny reading, you just can't miss out on the adventures of ALF, that crazy, furry alien who crashed into a house in suburban Los Angeles!

Hmm. Okay, okay! We admit it! Our comic book of choice definitely is... all of them! (Of course, we may be biased.) But if you absolutely, positively must make a choice, try visiting your local comic store. That way, you can see up close and first-hand all the great STAR comics!

(And, by the way... we also have some great new news--very, very soon, we'll have one more great comic to add to the STAR roster: POLICE ACADEMY!! Remember, you heard it here first!)

Dear Fred and Wilma,

I though issue #10 was great!! I think Fred and Wilma are great, and I really like Phineas, too.

I think my favorite story was when Phineas helped create Frankenstone with Dr. Madd, the mad scientist! Boy, was he nuts!

Susan Bick
Dayton, OH

Thanks for the compliments and commentary, Susan! (Though, hey, what about Barney and Betty??) We know that sometimes our stories are a little nutty... perhaps you figured that out in the very last story, "Gift Wrapped"? That one was not only nutty, but downright a-corny!! (Sorry--we couldn't resist!)

Dear FLINTSTONE KIDS,

I love, love, love your comic. And I liked all the stories in #10, especially "Poor Little Rich Girl," when Dreamchip gets poor-for-a while, at least.

Dreamchip is so snobby, but there's something I like about her. I wish I had that fountain with the alligator in front of my house. But there are no pets allowed in my building.

Stephen Grossman
Princeton, NJ

Sorry 'bout that, Stephen! But alligators are kind of hard to control, anyway. And they don't live well with cats, either. (If you're wondering why, just think along the lines of ALF and his feline friendships... or should we call them suburban taste treats? Anyway, we're sure you get the picture!)

Dear Flintstone Folks,

I really enjoyed the last issue of FLINTSTONE KIDS. My grandfather gave me a subscription, and I read every bit of every issue.

There are so many funny things about Fred and Barney, Wilma and Betty. All those weirdo devices they have are all powered by dinosaurs, I think. And in "Gift Wrapped" (ish #10), they walk in snow with only their bare feet!! How do they do it?

Tyler Rosen
Pennington, NJ

Maybe the snow in Bedrock isn't as cold as in New Jersey? Well, perhaps it is a little strange, Tyler--and we certainly don't recommend that you try it this winter! But things were a little different back in those prehistoric days... and maybe their feet were, too! Not that they had any choice--shoes hadn't been invented yet!

Dear FLINTSTONE KIDS,

I watch the FLINTSTONE KIDS on TV every Saturday, and I read all the comics, too.

Someday, I'd like to write stories for them. I already do, in a way, sometimes for myself, though I never show them to anyone else. How do you get to be a writer for real?

Anne Van Willigen
Lexington, KY

What a nice ambition, Anne! (Though, again, it's just barely possible we're prejudiced!)

Writing comics is not quite as easy as it looks. To prepare, you should study hard in school, because many of those skills are important--even if it doesn't seem like it now! Learning to draw is also a good idea, since comic book stories always have lots of action--and sometimes that's easier to illustrate with pictures than to describe in words. Next, let your imagination go wild! The fun part of comics is that anything can happen!

And finally, practice a whole lot... though it sounds like you're already doing just that! Good luck!

Dear FLINTSTONES,

I love your comic, though sometimes it's really hard to find over here in England. I found one store that carries it, but what if they stop?

In any case, all my best to Freddy, Wilma, Barney, Betty, Phineas, and even Rocky Ratrock (not that he's going to change a bit!) If they're ever in England, they should stop in for a visit!

Dave Shaw
London, England

Freddy and the gang in London? Nice idea, though sometimes it seems they can barely handle Bedrock!

In any case, we'll pass the word... but in the meantime, you might want to order a subscription--that way you'll be sure never to lose touch!

Thanks for writing!
